'ADD-A-CIRCUIT' FUSE HOLDERS

Mrna has updated its range of Add-A-Circuit fuse holders to include micro blade fuse options, joining the existing mini blade and standard ABS blade fuse offerings. Micro blade fuse setups are commonly found in space restricted automotive applications.

Add-A-Circuit fuse holders allow you to easily add a protected circuit to existing fuse holders/boxes without the need for splicing, by way of piggybacking – simply plug the circuit into an existing fuse slot or holder. Add-A-Circuits come with a 5A and a 10A fuse and feature a combined maximum ampereage rating of 20A.

THE EFFECT OF INCREASED VOLTAGE ON GLOBE LIFE

Overvoltage/Voltage Spikes are the biggest enemy of a halogen bulb. What else affects a bulb's lifetime?

- The typical lifetime of a high quality H4 bulb (DCM) is around 750 hrs, and 550 hours for H7. For 12V halogen bulbs, the lifetime is measured at a specified test voltage of 13.2V.
- No matter if it's a standard or a high performance bulb, the lifetime of all filament bulbs is strongly dependent on the operating voltage in the car.
- Even at just 5% over-voltage (12.86V), the lifespan of a lightbulb will be cut in half. So the biggest enemy of a bulb's lifespan is overvoltage or voltage spikes.
- Also it's very important to remember that the voltage to the light bulb can vary significantly between automotive brands, models & even individual cars.

If a vehicle operates at a higher voltage, lifetime of filament globes are best suited to reduce early globe failure

Switches, Flashers, Relays & Horns - Circuit Breakers

CIRCUIT BREAKERS

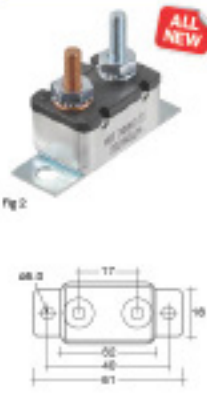

A circuit breaker is an automatically operated electrical device designed to protect an electrical circuit from damage caused by overload or short circuit. Unlike a fuse, which operates once and then has to be replaced, a circuit breaker can be reset (either manually or automatically) to resume normal operation. Automatic units are cycling and continuously self resetting, whilst the manual units are used where investigation of the fault is required prior to the circuit being reset.

The range includes traditional metal or plastic units and heavy-duty high amp units, typically used for transport or marine applications. Also included are plug-in types that can be used as a replacement for standard ATS blade fuses. These units are essentially a blade fuse that doesn't need replacing.

Switches, Flashers, Relays & Horns - Flashers

FLASHERS

Narva has a complete range of Flashers manufactured to meet the highest international standards starting with the low cost thermal units through to sophisticated electronic flashers with no load circuitry for use with LED lamps.

There are three basic flasher types: Thermal, Electro-Mechanical and Solid State Electronic. The introduction of both Electro-Mechanical and Electronic Flashers has produced a higher level of reliability, a clearer audible sound and a more consistent flash rate under load and temperature variations. Electronic Flashers were introduced in accordance with the function of "testage" or globe failure as required by the Australian Design Rule, ADW 13. Early electronic units are load sensitive, although new units are now available with minimal to no load requirement for use with LED lamps.

The range incorporates features such as pilot lamp indication, hazard warning and heavy-duty units for B-Double and Road Train applications.

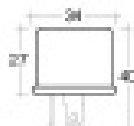

Narva Flashers are marked with the international pin identification system as listed below.

RELAYS

Relays can be used in a variety of applications where switching of high power is needed, such as auxiliary lighting, heating fans, wipers and air conditioning equipment. Nerve offers a comprehensive range of relays including reverse pin and timer relays.

Nerve relays are manufactured to very exacting original equipment standards under the control of ISO9001. The relays feature silver contacts for durability and a removable metal mounting tab for convenient installation. All relays are rated to 500,000 cycles and feature a braided power strap for increased reliability. Nerve relays are available with resistors or diodes to protect sensitive electronic equipment from voltage spikes. A resistor dampens a voltage spike while allowing the current through, while a diode absorbs the power and stops the spike completely.

- High temperature wire insulation
- Braided strap
- Hard silver contacts
- Resistor or diode protection

ADHESIVE LINED HEATSHRINK TERMINALS

The internal adhesive of the heatshrink terminals bonds securely to both the terminal and cable. The combination of crimping, heatshrink and adhesive creates a level of strain relief not achievable with standard terminal types.

The shrink/adhesive combination also produces a seal that prevents water and dust getting into the back of the terminal.

1 Select the correct size terminal for your application and crimp as per standard terminals.

2 Apply heat. As can be seen, the terminal insulation not only shrinks firmly around the cable but also releases an adhesive to increase the strain relief and create a watertight seal.

The 56392BL Flameless Heat Gun is ideal for use with heatshrink terminals (refer page 227).
